Ordnance Survey Positional Accuracy Improvement Programme:

Ordnance Survey is currently undertaking a national programme to improve the accuracy of their mapping. Within Buckinghamshire this programme will continue until March 2006 and during this time councils will be amending their own mapping to coincide with any changes made by Ordnance Survey. As a result there may be times when the mapping within Public Access does not coincide as expected. Whilst we will endeavour to minimise these discrepancies we cannot be held responsible for any such errors or actions taken as a result of these errors.
